This Riesling Auslese was harvested from blue and grey slay vineyard Lieserer Niederberg-Helden. The climate over there is much cooler than in the red slate vineyards of neighbouring Bernkastel, and seems to give more minerally wines than the latter. The wind dries the grapes in the Lieserer Niederberg-Helden and therefore protect them against botrytis. Stringent crop-thinning and leaf-plucking ensured excellent flavour concentration in the ripe grapes.

Ripe grapes were sorted and picked manually, to ensure only the best berries were selected at harvest time.
